

CHRISTO VAN DER BERG

Financial Advisor

For many, financial planning can feel overwhelming, confusing, or simply out of reach. Christo van der Berg understands this because he has seen firsthand the impact that poor financial advice can have on people's lives. Motivated by a personal experience when his mother received unsuitable advice following his father's passing, Christo dedicated himself to becoming a financial advisor who truly prioritises the client's needs.

With a BCom degree and a year of experience in financial services, Christo focuses on guiding young families, professionals, and retirees through the often complex world of financial planning. His clients typically start their journey with limited knowledge of financial products and strategies, unsure where to begin and lacking the information needed to make confident decisions. Christo's approach ensures that every client feels supported, educated, and empowered to take control of their financial future.

Christo offers a comprehensive range of services, including financial planning, investment strategies, retirement planning, life and risk insurance, income protection, medical aid and gap cover, estate planning, education funding, and business succession planning. He understands that no two clients are alike, tailoring his advice to each individual's unique needs, goals, and circumstances. Unlike advisors who may be there today and gone tomorrow, Christo is committed to being by his clients' side every step of the way, building long-term relationships based on trust, transparency, and personal care.

Outside of his professional life, Christo is passionate about sports and family. He has a stunning wife and two amazing children, and he actively contributes to his community by coaching at local schools. Family and community are at the heart of everything he does, and this same dedication carries through into the way he cares for his clients.

Christo van der Berg combines knowledge, compassion, and commitment to deliver financial advice that not only addresses immediate needs but also builds a secure and prosperous future. His friendly and approachable style ensures clients feel understood, confident, and supported as they navigate their financial journey.
