

MARVIN SEKADI

Financial Advisor

When you are making important financial decisions, you want guidance from someone who takes the time to understand your goals, your family, and the future you are working hard to build. That is exactly the experience clients can expect when working with Marvin Sekadi, a Financial Advisor at Attooh. With more than six years of experience in the financial services industry, Marvin focuses on helping professionals, young families, and business owners turn their financial ambitions into practical, achievable plans.

Marvin believes that financial advice should do more than simply recommend products – it should empower people with the knowledge and tools they need to build lasting wealth. Many individuals in today's generation aspire to create generational wealth but often lack access to clear guidance and financial education. Marvin has made it his mission to bridge that gap, helping clients move from uncertainty to confidence through structured planning and informed decision-making.

His approach is centred on building long-term relationships with clients. Rather than offering once-off advice, Marvin works alongside individuals and families throughout different stages of life, ensuring their financial strategies evolve as their circumstances change. By combining personalised guidance with clear education, he helps clients understand not only what decisions to make, but also why those decisions matter for their long-term financial wellbeing.

Marvin specialises in several key areas of financial planning, including risk and insurance planning, wealth management, and investment planning. He helps clients protect what matters most through appropriate life insurance and risk solutions, while also structuring investment strategies designed to support long-term growth and financial security. Whether a client is starting their investment journey, protecting their family's future, or planning for long-term wealth creation, Marvin focuses on building strategies that are practical, sustainable, and aligned with each client's goals.

In addition to his advisory work, Marvin holds a Bachelor of Commerce, which provides the academic foundation for his financial planning approach. He combines this knowledge with real-world experience and a genuine commitment to helping people make smarter financial decisions.

Marvin also understands that financial wellbeing extends beyond investments and insurance. Clients often seek guidance on broader financial topics such as car insurance, life insurance, car insurance quotes, and everyday financial tools including the best bank accounts in South Africa low-interest loans, and secure online banking login solutions. By helping clients navigate these common financial considerations, Marvin ensures they have a clear and structured approach to managing both their protection and their wealth.

Outside of his professional life, Marvin enjoys spending time walking his dog, making music, and playing chess. These activities reflect the qualities he brings to his advisory practice – patience, creativity, strategic thinking, and discipline.

For Marvin, financial advice is not just about numbers; it is about helping people create the future they envision. By combining education, personalised strategies, and long-term relationships, he is committed to helping clients move closer to building the generational wealth they aspire to achieve.
